Living A Life of Purpose

What makes us happy and fulfilled? How can we live a more joyous, impassioned life with purpose? If it comes from within, how can we tap into it?

These are the questions Lynn M. Bunch addressed 15 years ago when she founded The Center for Intuitive Development, an educational center for self awareness, personal development and spiritual enlightenment that teaches individuals to reconnect with their intuitive abilities to achieve life goals.

Intuition is a powerful tool you can use to create a life of purpose. When we are connected, we live with passion, answers flow more easily, and we are equipped to overcome challenges and obstacles. Over time, however, many of us lose that connection.

How can you reconnect with intuition and embrace your core truth? Check in – what do you love? Is there an activity or subject you can lose yourself in? Do you still hold onto a childhood passion? Be aware of the messages you receive. Look for signs that confirm your internal messaging system. Practice listening to your inner voice on decisions. Release judgments – both self-imposed and those of others. Allot time to check in and maintain a peaceful state.

We are all intuitive by nature, but it lies dormant in many of us. The Center for Intuitive Development teaches individuals, through a series of workshops and educational DVDs, how to reconnect with their intuition to live a life of purpose, productivity, joy and fulfillment.
